Where We Serve & Why Shanxi Province, China

Over 50 years after the death of Norwegian missionary Peter Torjesen by a Japanese bombing raid in Shanxi province, provincial officials invited the family of Pastor Torjesen back to China. They requested that the Torjesen family return to Shanxi, in the spirit of Peter Torjesen, to help this region deal with its social and economic needs.

The Torjesen family accepted the invitation, establishing Evergreen Family Friendship Service, a non-profit NGO. The name 'Evergreen' is from Peter Torjesen's Chinese name, Ye Yongqing, meaning 'Leaf Evergreen.'

Evergreen now consists of an international team of Christian professionals from many countries working alongside our local Chinese partners.

How We Serve

Asked to help Shanxi Province with its social and economic needs, we act out our faith in the following professional areas:

- Medical Work and Public Health: promoting better health care through clinical services, research, medical financial assistance, and health education.
- Educational Programs: providing English language experiences in both rural and urban settings, and educating children of Evergreen staff through our local international school.
- Agricultural Development: utilizing greenhouse technology to introduce high-yielding crops and new methods to poor rural farmers.
- Business Incubation: creating businesses to answer local needs that will be sustainable over time.
- Orphan Care: providing medical, therapeutic, and daily living services to orphans with special needs.
- Global Consulting: bridging the Chinese economic community with Western business partners.
- Family Outreach: teaching and instilling Christian values into marriages and families.

Evergreen Distinctives

- We work with the local government to maximize impact and sustainability.
- We are open about our faith and serve the Lord through our work.
- We work with the registered church in China.
- We work alongside local colleagues to empower them in locally appropriate endeavors.
- We integrate our Christian identity into all areas of life so that ministry opportunities emerge naturally from our relationships.
